Sarah's Contributions in Life:

Sarah was taken from life when someone drove the wrong way on the highway and struck the ambulance she was working in head-on. She was a beautiful spirit and contributed greatly to this world. Friends and colleagues described her as always bringing happiness with her. She was thoughtful and took time to make her coworkers' day by bringing them special treats. She was described as a "medic of heart," who did not work for the thrill of the response but for the opportunity to improve the life of someone in need. She was proud to follow the growth of her nephews.
