Scott's Contributions in Life:

Scott was a loving husband, dad, and friend whose big laugh and bigger heart filled every room. He was happiest with his wife, Tiffinay, and their kids, Mallory and Zach—teasing, telling jokes, and tackling any “fix-it” project (even if it meant taking it apart first). He loved his truck and motorcycle and enjoyed car-club time with Vintage Wheels and Jokers. Scott proudly served as a volunteer firefighter/EMT, always training, learning, and stepping up when others needed help. He served with the Boston Volunteer Fire Department and later the Milton Washington Township Volunteer Fire Department, where he encouraged younger members and led by example.
